THE SHARE MARKET. Stocks were heavy to-day, with the exception Pacific Mail and Columbus, Chicago and India Central, for both of which there was an active mand, and sales were made freely at steadily vancing prices. Western Union Telegraph was a strong, and advanced from the morning sales fu one and a quarter per cent. New York Central arm nearly all day at par, and late in the afterno reached an eighth above, but subsequently fell to 99%. The balance of the list was weak, and majority receded slightly in prices. There is movement going on in Northwestern which, i thought, is intended eventually to put the stock to the nineties, but whether it will succeed or no quite another question. If such be the intenti of the managers they are laying very quiet, for stock could hardly sustain itself to-day The highest and lowest prices at which the pr

EXCHANGE.	12 The	B. L. S.

Foreign exchange was dull but firm at 100% sixty day bills and 110% for short sight.

Consols for money sold at half-past one o'clo for 93%, and on account at 93%; American fix twenty bonds of 1862 were quoted at 90%; fi twenties of 1865 at 91%; five-twenties of 1867 98%; ten-forties at 80%; new fives at 90%; Erie, STATE BONDS were dull and prices barely maintained. The qu tations were as follows :- Tennessee sixes, old, 68 Tennessee sixes, new, 68%; Virginia sixes, ne 60; Virginia sixes, consols, 52%; Virginia sixe deferred certificates, 17; Georgia sevens, 88; Nor round sixes, old, 86; North Carolina sixes, ne 20%; North Carolina sixes, special tax, 14%; Sou Carolina sixes, new, January and July, 37%; M sourt sixes, 95%; Missouri sixes, Hannibal and loseph, 93%; Louisiana sixes, new, 55; Louisia sixes, levce, 67; Alabama eights, 85. Some of the Alabama papers think that the eig per cent bonds of that State ought to command in Wall street, instead of 83 to 85, the prices which they are now offered. They contend Alabama never failed to pay her interest, and evidence exists that she ever will do so. same argument might be adduced in favor of ot Btate bonds which are quoted at much lower ra but the fact is patent that there is at preser great lack of confidence in the stability of Bouthern State governments. There are la parties in nearly all of them, which, if they had the power, would not hesitate to repudiate the obligations of their State-in so far at least as the act would injure the North. The feelings thus entertained are not unknown to the people in this section, and hence the bonds of the Southern States are looked upon with distrust and dealt in with caution even at large discounts. Until the Southern people can manage to obliterate the hostile feeling towards the North which still lingers in the breasts of a large portion of them they must mot expect the bonds of their States will reach what they may consider their proper value.
